

Georgina Fowler

I make handmade slip cast earthenware vessels and plates. These are from moulds which I have made from paper models. I experiment with different twisted shapes, and through working with paper the outcome has been a simple shape but with a subtle twist.

I am inspired by fairy tales, imagination and the surreal. I take something and make it into something like from a dream. Through drawings I scan these into the computer and manipulate them on Photoshop to get designs which I put onto my vessels and plates. Each piece is unique in how I place the transfers.